Mateusz Sobiechowski – piano, Piotr Budniak – drums, Szymon Białorucki – trombone, Adam Tadel – double bass

The Forest Tuner is a band established by a Polish trombonist Szymon Białorucki. Its music falls outside the mainstream in rising jazz ensembles of today. The Forest Tuner is also a person, who derives happiness and peace from close listening to natural sounds of forests, mountains and rivers surrounding him. He creates melodies from what he hears and delivers them like stories, from which each listener can create their own, personal message.

A debut album entitled "Tunes" released by SJ Records includes nine original compositions by Szymon Białorucki, being performed together with Mateusz Sobiechowski (piano), Adam Tadel (double bass) and Piotr Budniak (drums). The final composition on the album – "Stroiciel" is depicted in a short animation, created by a designer Marcin Podolec.

The Forest Tuner has been distinguished by the Institute of Music and Dance in Warsaw (Instytut Muzyki i Tańca) in the form of a grant to produce the album "Tunes" within the project "Jazzowy debiut fonograficzny".

Album release concert: July 10th 2016 at Warsaw Summer Jazz Days
